Introduction

This compilation contains a selection of acts and ordinances – both new and amended – that entered into force around the second half of 2016.

Acts and ordinances set out the ground rules that govern our society. To make a new law, the Government lays a legislative proposal (a government bill) before the Riksdag. After the government bill has been considered by one of the parliamentary committees, it is put to the Riksdag for adoption. Once the bill becomes law, it is formally promulgated by the Government, meaning it is published and made known. The Government can adopt a new ordinance on its own, without presenting it to the Riksdag.

Acts and ordinances are published in the Swedish Code of Statutes (SFS). Each act and ordinance has a unique SFS number.

For more information on government bills, acts and ordinances, go to www.lagrummet.se. Lagrummet is the public administration's common website for legal information and links to legal information from the Government, the Riksdag, the courts and central government agencies. The legislative process is described in the section 'How Sweden is governed' on www.government.se.

This compilation can be downloaded on www.government.se. Some of the acts had not been assigned an SFS number at the time of publication. This applies to the numbers that end with '000' (e.g. 2016:000).
